Appointment of Dr Paul Stenson as Non-Executive Director

Melbourne (Australia), Greer (South Carolina, US) – 15 June 2020: Alexium International Group Limited (ASX: AJX) is pleased to announce that Dr Paul Stenson will join the Board as a Non-Executive Director, effective 15 June 2020.

Dr Stenson is the President & CEO of StanChem Polymers, a manufacturer of emulsion polymers, adhesives and specialty coatings including fire retardants. He has a PhD from University College Dublin in chemistry. With over 25 years' experience in polymer-related industries, he is a business and R&D leader with expertise in coatings, polymers and specialty chemicals with specific industry expertise in industrial, packaging, automotive coatings and specialty papers. For nearly 18 years, he worked with Valspar Corporation as the Technology Director of industrial coatings for North America and later Vice President for global packaging in Europe. He has an established track record of aligning R&D and Product Management to enable effective product launches through third party distribution networks.

Commenting on the appointment, Ms Rosheen Garnon, Chair of the Board of Alexium International Group Limited, said: " Dr Stenson has deep expertise in advanced material sciences and in particular with fire retardants. His experience in research & development, commercialising products and leveraging third party distribution networks within the United States, will bring deep and relevant skill sets to the Board at an important time in our commercialisation efforts. "
